

Hotwired (Goldsworthy)

She turns her head to make a play
You see her smile light up her face
You try to catch the moment
But in a flash she's gone
Can't describe the feeling That keeps you holding on Your mind is racing
Pulse in the red
Your body's aching
Your heart, it rules your head
And your soul's on fire
Resistance low
Your heart's hotwired
And ready to explode

She got me, hotwired
With just one look, hotwired
That was all it took
hotwired
I'll never kill the flame
hotwired
I'm never gonna be the same again
I'll never be the same babe

Well she stood you up and she made you pay
You turn your head as you walk away
And you know to her
It's just another game
Your heart's hotwired
And you know she's to blame

She got me, hotwired
With just one look, hotwired
That was all it took
hotwired
I'll never kill the flame
hotwired
I'm never gonna be the same

I try to close my eyes
And hide this burning deep inside of my heart
No I'll never kill the flame
No matter how I try
I just can't find a reason why
She's gone
Oh she's gone

She got me, hotwired
With just one look, hotwired
That was all it took
hotwired
hotwired
I'll never be the same again
hotwired
