

Who'll Stop The Rain (Overland/Goldsworthy/Jupp/Davis/Kirkpatrick)

Hear the crash like thunder
And the sirens wail
Every backstreet alley tells another tale
When the shadows fall
And you've nowhere to run
Nowhere to run
Nowhere to run

Like so many before
You headed for the lights
Full of burning ambition
That fire inside
It's an unforgiving world
When you're lost and alone

Now the nights never end
Close your eyes and pretend
With every stranger that passes through
Sell your body and soul
Are you losing control
Of that someone that you once knew

Chorus

Another lonely girl
In a cruel, cruel world
Will you see the sun again
Tell me who'll stop the rain
No-one hears your call
But against it all
You live to fight another day
Tell me who'll stop the rain

You had beauty
You thought nothing
Could stand in your way
You were gonna be something
All the plans you made
Now it's a different story
Life's no fairy tale

Now your mind drifts away
To a time and a place
Where your innocence still ran free
Now your tired and alone
With no place to call home
In a world full of broken dreams

Chorus

Reaching out into the darkness
Call out but there's no-one there
All you need's a little tenderness
Somebody who cares

Chorus

Who'll stop the rain
Who'll stop the rain
Who'll stop the rain
Who'll stop the rain
Who'll stop the rain

Who'll stop the rain
Reaching out into the darkness
Call out but there's no-one there
Who'll stop the rain
All you need's a little tenderness
Who'll stop the rain

Who'll stop the rain

Who'll stop the rain
